LEARNING DISABILITY CARE
COORDINATOR

ABOUT ME

---

Hi I'm Sue, I provide assistance with anything and everything to do with learning disabilities and autism. I help people with learning disabilities and autistic people with their healthcare. I offer annual health checks in a way that is not "as clinical" so that people are not frightened. I can use Makaton sign language to communicate with people. I can help people get referrals to secondary care. As part of my role, I can also assess people to see if they should be on the Learning Disability (LD) register and offer advice to carers.

THINGS I CAN SUPPORT WITH:

- Assessing patients to see if they should be on the learning disability register.
- Giving advice to carers and parents to help them better support those with learning disability.
- Carrying out assessments, referrals, observations to support the patients I see, to create a plan going forward
- I can help to create care plans when needed to provide the best support going forward for the patient and their best interests within the primary care setting.
- As part of my role I also conduct health checks.
- I can provide home visits for patients who may find it difficult to come to the practice.
- I work closely with the other additional support roles from health coaches, mental health coordinators and wellbeing practitioners.
